

Knocked Off Center

Imagine you have two balls, one with mass M and the other with mass m , with $M > m$. Ball m is stationary initially. You then roll ball M into ball m and they collide elastically. What is the maximum angle at which ball M can be deflected?