

Chance Meeting

Two drunks start out together at the origin, each having an equal probability of making a step to the left or right along the x -axis. Find the probability that they meet again after N steps. The drunks are synchronized so that they make their steps simultaneously.