Dear Faculty and Staff,

I am pleased to introduce the 2011 Faculty and Staff Survey. In an effort to create a more collaborative working environment, the survey is designed to capture the perceptions, sentiments, and priorities of the university community as they relate to key areas of need and performance at Stevens. Through this process we will be able to identify areas of weakness and strength. This will allow us to focus our future initiatives on building upon areas of strength, while addressing the weaknesses. Your input will not only be invaluable for the strategic planning process, but also it will allow me, as a new member of the community, to rapidly gain insight into many of the challenges and opportunities that each of you considers an issue or a priority.

I ask that you take a few minutes to complete this anonymous survey between September 19th and September 26th, and wish to personally thank you in advance for your thoughtful participation. The impact and benefits of your participation will be considerable. At the conclusion of the process, we will share the results of the survey with you. It is my sincere belief that the outcome will be significant, and will allow us to bring the University to an even greater level of excellence across every endeavor.

Yours truly,

Nariman Farvardin
President
