To All Stevens Students:

As we approach the final days of the Spring 2021 semester, I am writing to extend my personal appreciation to you for persevering through what has been a highly unusual and challenging year. You have dealt with uncertainty, with unexpected circumstances, and with numerous constraints and inconveniences. Yet you have represented yourself and Stevens with distinction. I and your Stevens family are immensely proud of you.

I wish you good health and luck with final exams and end of semester activities. To those who will be graduating, I hope to see you at Commencement in a few weeks. I very much look forward to seeing all returning students back on campus in the fall.
