

Abstract:

SitOutlook Motor Sentinel (SOMS) is a preemptive fault detector and trending program. It is specifically designed to handle dependent process variables. Research was performed to assess the marketability as well as the profitability of SOMS.

Benchmarking and project management tools were also used to analyze and manage the project. The research indicates that there is a market and more importantly the potential for a profit in five years.